SPRINGFIELD HIGH SCHOOL,

SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS

Dedication

Behind the scenes of this present crime of civilization there stands firm and proud a quiet group of ever gallant women, the mothers of our servicemen. Some have sent their sons away never to return, as death knows no boundaries. Others, more fortunate, are waiting patiently to welcome home their sons, now heroes of battles in far off lands. And although these same mothers are never decorated for the pains and sorrows which they suffer as a result of this war, they are the true American heroines. It is they, the gold star mothers who, after the material war has ended, still feel the grief and hardship the war has brought upon them.

And so to this noble group of mothers, who have given their sons in order that the American way of life might be preserved, we humbly dedicate this book.

Foreword

Never before in the history of the world, has there been such a great need for international co-operation as there will be when the present war has ended. Many wars have been fought and peace treaties written, but none have met with success because too much stress was placed on the winning of the war and the return to peace time conditions, rather than on writing a sure and lasting peace.

We hope we have profited by our mistakes so that the United Nations, who have banded together in the greatest movement toward world peace ever known, will be able to channel every nation into a world federation based on justice to all humanity.

LYMAN K. DAVIS
Principal

In the hands of Mr. Davis rests the job of maintaining the high standards of Springfield High School.

As chief administrator Mr. Davis must keep in constant contact with both students and faculty, assisting them in whatever is necessary.

Realizing the school's first obligation to the student—preparing him for his future career—Mr. Davis has introduced many new courses in the curriculum, aiming to do this very thing. Consequently, in the course of four years the best in every student is brought to light.

Under his guidance our school has conducted several war bond drives in addition to promoting the regular sale of war stamps on the lunch shifts. Also, in keeping with the war aim he has encouraged the first aid classes which are, at present, functioning so well.

All in all we should say, "Hats off" to a grand principal—Mr. Lyman K. Davis—who has established for our school such an enviable record!

CORNER OF LEARNING

As assistant principal, Mr. Roy Wentz is faced mainly with the difficult job of discipline.

Better known to the students as "Daddy Wentz", he is able to cope with the most trying situations without losing his friendly smile and, most important of all, the pupils' good will.

Mr. Wentz is interested always in the reason—not in dealing out the punishment. If there is a rift between teacher and pupil he works for a better adjustment and a better understanding between the two. In other cases, he helps students who are also working outside of school to make this adjustment without too much conflict with their school program.

In his "spare" time Daddy Wentz serves as one of the two faculty advisers to the Student Council.

Students of Springfield High—both those who have come in "contact" with "Daddy", and those who have not—will always remember him as the person with the friendly smile who "keeps the situation well in hand."

TYPISTS PREPARE FOR THE BUSINESS WORLD

More and more students with a commercial background are being employed as soon as they graduate from high school. Better and more opportunities are open for them in this year of war than ever before.

The commercial department acquaints the student with the underlying principles of business, giving him a basic knowledge of its organization and its administration, thus preparing him for certain positions which require, more or less, specialzed training.

Social Science

"ILLINOIS IS THE HUB OF THE U. S."—SENIOR HISTORY

What do seniors worry about? You're right, their senior history exams. Each student is required to take two years of social science. The second year must be American History. The other year of World History may be taken in either the sophomore or junior year.

Now more than ever the social science department has placed more stress upon the understanding of Civil government and citizenship than on facts, places, and dates.

In both World History and American History classes one day out of each week is spent reading and studying Current Events, a paper published for students analyzing late world news. This gives students a chance to delve into the political and economic problems of the world. At a time when practically all the nations of the world are locked in a struggle for their existence it is vital to know the cause of war, preventions, and a solution to world peace.

The accomplishments acquired from courses of history taken in high school are enormous. Courses may be taken which start with the beginning of civilization, through early Egyptian civilization, into the Middle Ages and through modern European history, then down through our American history to the present war.

Throughout the year numerous essay contests, sponsored by civic organizations, were conducted through the history classes. Also among the out-of-class activities was the Social Science display case. This was bedecked with interesting posters, booklets, miniatures, murals, and other student project work.

Although history is a required subject, many students become so enmeshed in its problems that advanced courses are offered.

English Department

"WRITE THE NEWS—FACTUAL, RELIABLE, AND COMPLETE"—ENGLISH 4

In 1944 and 1945, Springfield High School students in English are still learning to speak well, to punctuate well, to spell well, and to cultivate adequate vocabularies. They are still learning to grow mentally by getting the ideas of profound thinkers. Through reading they are enlarging their horizons so they may develop richer personalities and be ready to live fuller, finer lives, ready to come to grip with real situations in this free world, working to perfect a democracy.

Interest in current problems of a practical nature directed reading and reports to world-wide concerns. Postwar plans absorb seniors.

This year historical novels, especially those with an international setting, win favor. Students are debating the merits of military training for high school youth. Increasing, too, is the recognition of the importance and value of practical knowledge, logical reasoning, and critical, independent thinking.

Due to a new state ruling, everyone has to take gym every other day. This ruling has doubled the size of the gym classes and has also created a class which meets at 8:15 in the morning.

The instructors have devised exercises to develop strength, stamina, and endurance and to promote bodily coordination. The gym classes are designed to develop the desires and techniques of being well in the students and to make of them happy, active, cooperative human beings able to stand the strains and stresses of present day living.

The regular classes go in for more competitive sports to develop team play, but the 8:15 gym classes concentrate on exercises for body health. One absence is allowed in each term. Absences exceeding one must be made up.

A special sixth period gym class was organized for all boys participating in competitive sports such as basketball, football, and track. This class meets every day instead of the usual every-other-day gym classes and has as its main purpose to keep the school athletes in condition the whole year round.

Mathematics Department

The Mathematics Department has been and is now one of the most important departments in the school. With a great demand for mathematicians in all branches of the service, the enrollment for these subjects has doubled and trebled. Now more than half the school enrollment is taking one or more mathematic courses.

With the help of the students this department maintains one of the school's most interesting show cases. A student is not eligible for a grade of "B" or above unless he has completed at least one major or two minor projects each semester. From these projects, which range from elementary graphs to illustrated field projects in trigonometry, the best are chosen to be displayed.

YOUR CHANCES FOR A ROYAL FLUSH

A ROYAL FLUSH, AS PICTURED, IS THE COMBINATION OF THE 10, JACK, QUEEN, KING AND ACE—ALL OF THE SAME SUIT. SINCE THERE ARE 4 SUCH GROUPS OF 5 CARDS IN A DECK, THE CHANCES OF GETTING A ROYAL FLUSH ON ONE DEAL ARE 4 OUT OF THE TOTAL NUMBER OF POSSIBLE COMBINATIONS OF 52 CARDS TAKEN 5 AT A TIME.

$$C(N,R) = \frac{N(N-1)\cdots(N-R+1)}{R!}$$

$$C(52,5) = \frac{52\cdot 51\cdot 50\cdot 49\cdot 48}{5\cdot 4\cdot 3\cdot 2\cdot 1}$$

$$C(52,5) = 2,598.960$$

THEREFORE THE CHANCES ARE 4 OUT OF 2,598,960 OR 1 CHANCE OUT OF 649,740

Music

The music department is more or less a "morale builder" for the entire student body. Here students can pursue the particular field of music they are best suited for.

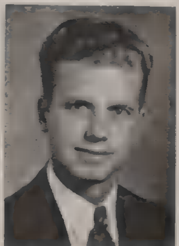
For those interested in instrumental music, we have the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Sauer, while the boys may try for our band, directed by Mr. Patrick. This, incidentally, is the band which adds zip and zest to our football games by its very appearance.

Those who prefer singing may try out for highly rated A Cappella Choir under the able direction of Mr. Lundgren.

The Freshmen and Sophomores find a home, during their first two years at S.H.S., in Mr. Benedict's chorus classes.

Annually, the Sophomore classes present two cantatas — one at Christmas and the other in the spring. The cantata given at Christmas is always in keeping with the Christmastide.

Roger J. Benedict — Lawrence College, B.M.; University of Wisconsin; Illinois State Normal University; Christiansen Choral School; Colorado State College of Education, M.A.



E. Carl Lundgren — Director of A Cappella Choir; School of Music, B. of Music Ed.; Illinois Wesleyan, B. of Theory of Music; University of Michigan, M. of Mus. Ed.; Guest Instructor, Summer School, University of Michigan.

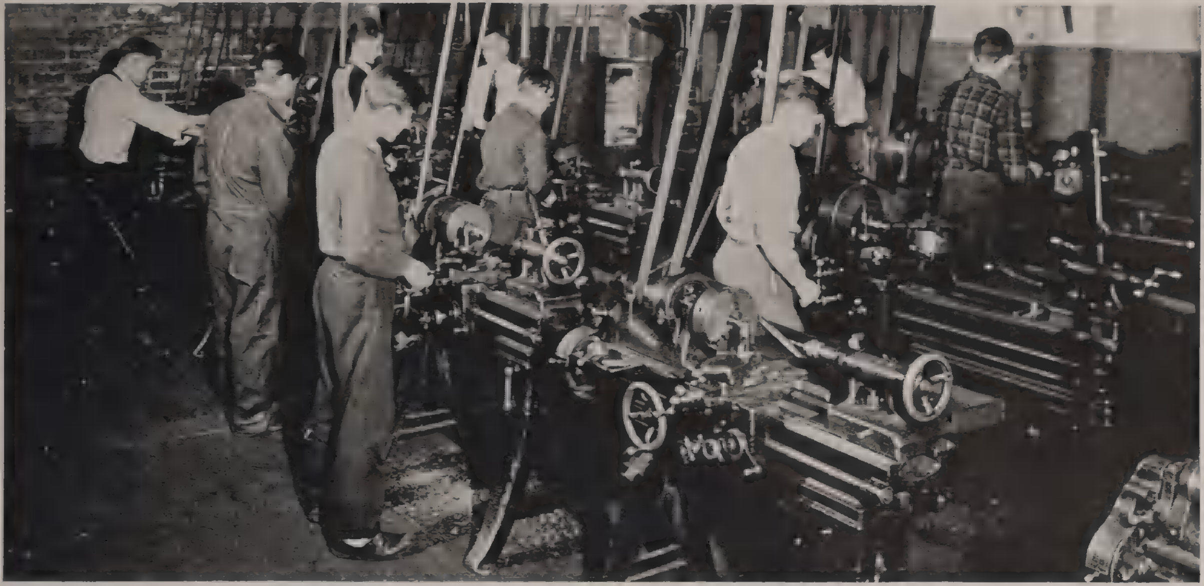
Industrial Arts



MACHINE SHOP

Under the supervision of Mr. M. F. Kavanaugh, the Industrial Arts department has strived to give its students an active interest in the industrial life, both in production and distribution.

Here actual trades are learned. From this department will come out future draftsmen, carpenters, machinists, printers and electricians. Along with learning the actual fundamentals of their respective trade, students will acquire many habits that will help them not only in their work but in their every day life. They acquire an attitude of pride in accomplished work; the habit of an orderly method of procedure in the performance of any task; an attitude of readiness to assist others when they need help; and a thoughtful attitude in making things pleasant and safe for others.

MR. HALL DEMONSTRATES AN EXPERIMENT

Science

Many are the students at Springfield High School who are taking advantage of one of the most popular courses offered—namely science.

The science courses are open to all students. For the freshmen there is general science while sophomores may take either botany, biology, or zoology.

Although only one year of science is required for graduation, many students become so intrigued by its wonders that advanced courses are offered. These advanced courses include physics and chemistry.

Future doctors and nurses are taking botany, biology and zoology; the engineers are taking chemistry and physics, the prerequisites of engineering. Now, with the increased demand for engineers, doctors and nurses by the army these courses have become very important.

Yes, it is these science courses which will aid in the transition from the science student of today to the scientist of tomorrow!

Latin and Spanish are the two choices of the language department. Four years of Latin are offered and three of Spanish.

Miss Blatt, Miss Ihlenfeldt, Miss McPhillimey, and Miss Steinmiller capably lead the study of grammar, Caesar, Cicero, and Virgil in Latin.

In Spanish our relationships with Latin America are accentuated under Miss Ronca and Miss Carson. Their aim is to get students to read, write, and understand Spanish with emphasis on speaking ability, according to present day aims of Pan-Americanism. Incidentally, American delegates attending the Inter-American Conference also found how valuable a knowledge of Spanish can be.

Fine Arts

FUTURE ARTISTS LEARN CLAY MODELING

The Art Department offers a wide variety of projects in several fields of art to all art-minded students. Courses offered by the department include lettering, design, figure drawing, water color, oil painting, and crafts. These courses give experience to the student in the practice of color harmony, originality in design, and correct picture proportion and balance.

Instructors strive to develop an understanding and appreciation of different art expressions along with the skills and techniques required to carry them out.

Again this year, all three Springfield high schools cooperated to produce the second annual Art Calendar of 1945 which dealt with the life of Lincoln.

FUTURE HOUSEWIVES

Home Economics helps the student to meet the needs of everyday life and to realize that the strength of a nation depends on the health of its citizenry. Students become aware of the relation of good nutrition to health, correct clothing to health, and proper homes to health.

The courses offered are homemaking, foods, clothing, and home management, which are being taught with an awareness of the problems growing out of world conditions.

Girls learn to cook with less sugar, to plan nourishing meals, and to be wise consumer buyers in cooking classes. Clothing students learn how to dress becomingly, to choose the proper dress for all occasions and to make garments for themselves. Homemaking and home management feature the efficient managing of homes, care of the sick and children, and the creation of beautiful, comfortable homes.

Budgeting is studied in all the classes, for statistics show that women spend most of the money for the home.

Main Office

Miss Atkins

If you want to know about your high school record, good or bad, just ask Miss Atkins or Miss Davis. It is their job to carry on all correspondence for the school and keep the records of all students who attended Springfield High School. They are also giving another great service to the school by collecting and compiling the names of all alumni who have entered service.

Miss Davis

Miss Aurelius

Student Office

Miss Robb

So you're going to cut next period, are you? You had better stop and think twice because our school has a most efficient student office staff. Besides keeping would be mischievous students in line, these two never tiring souls must meet practically the whole school every day and meet with problems from finding lost fountain pens to setting broken legs in the absence of the nurse.

Student Service

In the cafeteria the majority of the student body is fed each day. Because of the great number of students desiring to eat their home-cooked meals, three lunch shifts had to be created to take care of the overflow crowd. For the last two years the cafeteria has been under new management. In this short period of two years Miss Devlin has proved herself a most capable directress by serving good meals at a minimum cost. This great improvement has drawn the majority of the students into the cafeteria. Each week a new menu was introduced so that it was quite impossible to tire of their delicious home cooked food.

Another unsung heroine of our school is our librarian, Miss Zimmerman. Although she has only been with us for a little over two years she has won the regard and admiration of all who have come in contact with her. In addition to giving help to all who need it during the regular six periods, she is in the library each morning at 8:00 o'clock, ready to come to the rescue of the bewildered freshman or the still confused senior. Miss Zimmerman had her troubles though and they fell fast and furious. She is probably the only librarian who has had the roof fall down on her . . . library. That just goes to show you what happens if she's not around to keep the situation well in hand.

We are very fortunate in having at our school a woman well known in her field of work—our nurse, Miss Southwick. Many serious injuries have been prevented and diseases checked by the quick thinking of this lady.

Springfield High School students and the remaining faculty will always remember these former members of our faculty who left their positions and enlisted in the service of their country. All four were volunteers.

Vivian Rose Nuess, upon graduation from Officers' Candidate School was commissioned a 1st Lieutenant in the Marines. Since then she has been promoted to the rank of Captain and is now stationed at San Diego, California.

Guy Krummel was commissioned a Lieutenant in the Navy and since then has been serving in the Pacific theatre, taking active part in both the Iwo Jima and the Okinawa campaigns.

June Barnes volunteered for service in the Red Cross and was soon assigned overseas. She has returned to this country and is now living in Detroit.

Alma Jean Wilson also volunteered for duty with the Red Cross. She served many months in New Caledonia and is now on duty in the Hawaiian Islands.

So to these gallant people we wish to offer our admiration and sincere hopes that they will return to us soon.

Such a combination of outstanding athletes, scholars, debaters, writers, and orators is seldom gathered into a single mid-year graduating class.

Although their number was reduced by many boys leaving for the service, they have left a deep impression, not soon to be erased, by their accomplishments and ability to shoulder responsibility.

One of their outstanding achievements was a most practical class project. The class realized the sore need of a modern scoreboard in the gymnasium, which they took upon themselves to pay for and have built in the school carpenter shop.

With this varied background of hard work, responsibility, and scholastic achievement, this class will undoubtedly meet with assured success.

Never again in a person's life will he live a more eventful year than his senior year in high school. When the June class entered S. H. S. activities seemed to move slowly. But as the semesters rolled on the pace quickened until in their senior year these same students found themselves in a maze of club activities, debates, athletic events, and other extra-curricular activities.

These seekers of higher knowledge have graduated fully matured men and women with steady and cultured minds, ready to take their place as useful citizens in society.

As these students meet the world with visions of potential success, every effort and all the knowledge they have accumulated will be bent toward achieving that goal. It is then they will realize they have taken one short step in the long journey through life.

June Seniors

The present Junior Class has advanced a long way since they first entered S. H. S. They foresaw that time would pass quickly and soon the responsibilities of senior class activities, as well as manhood or womanhood would be thrust upon them.

That time has arrived! Soon they are to take up the reins of student government. Soon they will show the rest of the school that during their three short years in high school they have earnestly endeavored to prepare themselves for the task. And soon they will have acquired the experience of four years at S. H. S. which tends to develop a student into the highest ranks of manhood and womanhood.

This class has continued to maintain their high scholastic standing and participation in athletic events so prevalent in their high school careers.

So to this eager group of students we wish a happy and a most successful Senior Year.

This group of Sophomore students fit well into their most rightfully earned position as a most conscientious and industrious class.

The Franky Freshmen of a year ago that once were made to bear the brunt of practical jokes by upperclassmen have emerged from the ranks as our most amiable Sammy Sophomores. But they have borne the intiations into various clubs and organizations while at the same time affording a humorous atmosphere for the rest of the student body.

However, these students had a more serious side in their pursuit for higher knowledge. By now they have chosen their particular aims in life. And as shown by their records, they are striving earnestly to achieve their goals. Their success in later life, if paralleled with their second year in high school, will be most praiseworthy and glorious.

Up from the depths of confusion the Freshman class of 1945 has entered the portals of S. H. S. This hale and hearty group of students has well withstood the usual confusion of wrong room numbers, elevator tickets, and practical jokers. They have emerged as leaders in their fields, ready to take up their places and responsibilities as leaders in clubs, organizations and athletics in both social and academic life.

Although it was their first year of high school, this class has already distinguished itself in contributions to school activities by winning several berths in varsity sports, sending representatives to the Student Council and maintaining a high scholastic standard.

So here's to the Freshman class. May your stay at S. H. S. be as pleasant as your presence and attitude have made it for the rest of the student body.

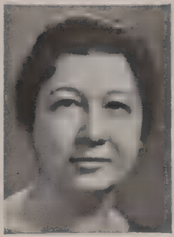
Student Supervisors

MISS LOMELINO
Study Hall
Supervisor

MISS BUNDY, Dean of Girls



MISS HAGER
Study Hall
Supervisor

Probably one of the busiest persons around school is Miss Bundy, Dean of Girls. The two girls' study hall counselors are directly under Miss Bundy. With her supervision the programs of the girls are arranged. She also secures needed information and the requirements from different colleges so girls who are planning to further their education will have this information. Among other various services she performs are: adviser of the Student Council, adviser to both January and June Prom committees, and director of the student program conducted for the Parent Teachers Association.

At the beginning of the year freshmen are assigned to a study center which will remain the same throughout their stay in high school. Their respective study hall supervisors act as their counselors, helping them to plan their courses and learn good study habits.

The four study hall supervisors are Miss Lomelino, Miss Hager, Mr. Gwin, and Mr. Petefish. These four attempt to create an atmosphere wherein the student studies and works on his own initiative.

It is in the study halls that high school publications are sold, announcements are made, Student Council members are elected, and general activities are conducted.

Here It Is...

Yes, it is all over now and the school year of 1944-1945 is past history. Between the covers of this book we have tried to cram in 148 pages as much of that history as possible.

The planning of the book started in the early part of last summer. After many conferences of the editorial staff, the adviser and the art editors, an appropriate theme was finally decided upon. In choosing a theme it must be taken into consideration whether or not the theme is in harmony with the present time, and whether or not it is pleasing to the student's eyes. We believe we have chosen such a theme.

At first, progress was slow due to film shortages, priorities, lack of materials and many other stumbling blocks that impeded progress. But as the school year rolled along the pace quickened till the annual was completed. Completed, we say, as far as the work of the staff is concerned. However, because of labor shortages which caused considerable hindrance to the work of both the engraver and printer, there was a delay in finishing the book.

The unusually interesting and colorful art work displayed in the book was not the work of the art editors alone although they do deserve the majority of the credit. It did, however, take many hours of conferences of the adviser, the art editors and the editorial staff in deciding definitely upon the type of artistic copy and theme material which would most effectively carry out the theme.

Again in the photographic layouts is the need for cooperation among several of the departments necessary. In the snapshot section complete agreement among the art editors, the photographer, the adviser and the editor must be reached to bring out the abilities of all the departments to their best advantage.

Probably the unsung heroes of this book are the typists. All copy used in the book must be typed before being handed in to the printer. Many hours had to be spent in typing the words that go to make up the copy of this book.

The Business Staff is probably the most independent division of the staff. Each year it has acted more and more upon its own until finally a separate division of the Capitoline Staff was made. This year the Business Staff sold well over the planned quota of a thousand books and secured many acknowledgements in order to maintain financial security and incidentally to make a little profit. With this increase in subscriptions a more varied and attractive looking book can be expected.

In addition to assisting in the financing of the Capitoline, the Student Directory is published as a subsidiary of the year book. It has proved its worth to both students and faculty members by providing an alphabetized list of all Springfield High School students, faculty, and office personnel along with addresses and telephone numbers.

The book is now a completed product. We hope our efforts have not been in vain and that it will always help you to remember your high school days.

...Yearlings Learn Capitoline Production

The members of the Junior Capitoline Staff are those students interested in the writing and publication of the annual.

Throughout the course of the year they have heard various talks on the publication of a yearbook from the printer, engravers, adviser, the editorial staff and other members of the Senior Capitoline Staff. Consequently, by the time they are ready to take their positions on the senior staff, they know a great deal about the problems involved in publishing an annual.

Besides preparing themselves for their future positions, the Junior Capitoline Staff assisted the Business Staff by selling acknowledgments and books to business firms and individuals outside of the school. They succeeded in going well over their planned quota.

Regular meetings, which were conducted solely by the elected officers as in other school organizations, were held every two weeks.

To be on the Junior Capitoline Staff, a student must show special interest in this kind of work and must carry an average of "C" in all subjects.

All students on the junior staff do not necessarily have to be on the senior staff. During the course of their junior year, their special abilities are sought out so that at the end of the year they can be put in the position most suitable to them. They may choose their position, but it must be submitted to a vote of the faculty, adviser, and the former staff to insure having a sound and responsible group to carry on next year's work.

...Les Bas Pledging Brightens School Life

The Junior Les Bas pledging, held in September, was made more difficult because, instead of the usual big sister for each pledge, the poor slaves had two apiece.

As in all similar occasions, we pushed pennies with our noses in races sponsored by our heartless elders; lugged books up and down stairs; became the laughing stocks of friends, as well as enemies, by appearing in numerous multi-colored hair-ribboned pigtails, Indian warpaint, drooped stockings, plaid-and-striped ensembles, fascinating exchanges of shoes, socks, etc. We carried eggs which were to be autographed but not broken; and of course wore the required collar, blue hair ribbon, blue and white stockings. But always we smiled.

We were given a picnic at the end of our initiation at which each pledge presented her own skit. We were then fed heartily (some might call it stuffed) till we could eat no more. But the real event was the formal initiation at which we were accepted into the society by the Chairman of the Senior Les Bas. From then on, with the help of our advisers, Miss Neblick and Miss Mathews, we were on our own—The Junior Les Bas.

KING OF ALL KINGS

President	Marylou Elmore
Vice-President	Alice Jordan
Secretary	Joan Towle
Treasurer	Joanne Kelly

Les Bas is one of the foremost clubs of Springfield High School. For its members it has a group of eager, interesting girls. The general objectives of the club are to further better working relations between girls, to enable members to gain experience in being in front of the public, and to develop executive ability.

Programs for the entire school year are arranged in September by the officers and the advisers. The meetings are conducted according to the "Roberts Rules of Order." Three outstanding programs of the year are the Mothers' Tea, the entertaining of Philos, and the entertaining of Jr. Les Bas.

TOP ROW: Hathaway, Elizabeth; Lasseter, Lillian; Habel, Dorothy; Petefish, Norma; Alton, Barbara; Cunningham, Carla Lee; Green, Nancy; Singler, Mary.

Les Bas gives two dances a year. The Christmas Alumnae Formal is the highlight of the Christmas season and their Annual Maypole Dance is one of the outstanding spring dances.

During the course of the year, the club contributed to such charitable organizations as Child Welfare, Russian War Relief, the Community Fund, and the Red Cross.

To become a member of Les Bas, one must be a sophomore, a junior, or a senior and have a grade average of 3.5. Each Jr. Les Bas must earn 100 points to be eligible to enter Sr. Les Bas.

Les Bas Officers: Habel, Elmore, Jordan, Towle.

...Interesting Programs and Banquets

Interesting programs and colorful dances mark the Philos as one of the most outstanding girls clubs in S.H.S.

Just take a look at their program—an interesting feature of this year's program was the Kuder Vocational Test which was given to all members, many of whom were surprised to see where their interests really lay. Judging from the results, we can look for some of the girls to become the lawyers, doctors, etc. of the future.

The annual Christmas tea, at which the Philos entertained their mothers, will long be remembered by both the members and their guests. Consisting of Christmas readings and carols by the Philo Choral Group, this meeting was one of the most impressive of all meetings.

Other meetings of special interest to the Philos were the Annual Alumnae Banquet and the Senior Picnic.

In seeking to promote a closer relationship between the two girls clubs of S.H.S., joint meetings were again held with the Les Bas Bleus. The Les Bas entertained at the Executive Mansion while the Philos, with an all musical program, presented theirs at the school. These meetings helped to get better acquainted and form lasting friendship.

The Philo dances, always the outstanding events of the year, were again very successful. Their mid-year dance, "The Cupid Capers," appropriately carried out the Valentine motif while the Philo Alumnae Formal, with its miniature diplomas, furnished the perfect climax for the school year—and graduation night.

Again this year the Philos made generous donations for charitable purposes including the Red Cross. At Christmas time, the girls, remembering others less fortunate than they, generously contributed to the Family Welfare Association. It was later learned that through these contributions an unfortunate family had a happier Christmas than they otherwise would have had.

Finally, the Philo year was rounded out with varied musical and literary programs to make it one of the best in Philo history.

...Snazzy Shirts and 2nd Annual

The Delphics started off with a bang this year by having one of the biggest and best pledge groups in their entire history. They immediately adopted a program which called for plenty of action and activities, with the sole purpose of "laying the Wranglers in the shade", and they did just that by giving the first school dance of the year followed by other outstanding activities.

The Delphics sprouted forth with an original idea which soon was the envy of all the other clubs. All members wore white shirts with the name Delphic written in blue over the pocket along with a blue tie. This proved to be a great success not only in distinguishing the Delphic Club from other organizations, but also set an example of neatness for the whole school to follow.

In the "tug-of-war" contest held for the first time the Delphics trounced the Wranglers. They also beat the Wranglers in both annual football games. One game was played by the regular members of both clubs and the other by this year's pledges.

Starting the second semester with a new bunch of officers equally energetic as those of the first semester, the Dephics jumped into the lead again by giving the never to be forgotten "Shamrock Shuffle". This was followed by a banquet for the S.H.S. Freshmen football team, which the club will hold annually. Later in the spring, the Delphics came forth once more to prove their well-earned title, "Best Club in Springfield", by giving their annual Delphic Amateur Show which featured school talent. It was a big success with both students and faculty.

To wind up the year's activities they had their annual Spring stag banquet. New officers for next year were elected who will follow up the most successful year in Delphic history.

...Have You Hung Your Wrangler Pin Yet?

High among the Wrangler achievements of this 1944-1945 school year was the presentation made at awards assembly to the most capable senior student in industrial arts. Sharing the limelight of events was the annual barn dance, a pinnacle of success; and a dance presented in January, at which Jack "Apassionetta" Fisher was crowned queen. The Wranglers, besides their annual father-son banquet, feted the basketball team to a feast and the student body to a bonfire, the latter in football season.

To further order and to revitalize their club, the Wranglers drew up a new constitution,

...Smart Blouses Distinguish Councilettes

For the first time in several years the Council was satisfied with the constitution that was left to them. Since the constitution was new last year, the Council decided to try it for a change.

This year the Council was composed of twenty-four freshmen and sophomores and the upperclassmen were represented by an equal number. Under the terms of the constitution the study halls were represented by two members from each period.

Because of the lack of funds, the activities the first semester were at a minimum, but the treasury was reimbursed by a tag sale the second semester and activities began to roll.

A War Bond Auction was held in which precious (and we do mean precious) items were auctioned. This was the official opening of a war bond drive, which was climaxed by the crowning of a War Bond Queen.

...Boys' Council Voices Students' Demands

Once again the Council took charge of the student elections, both for class officers and officers for a day.

The annual basketball tournament was held this year with no less than 25 teams participating. This proved to be a great success as it offered an opportunity for boys to play in a tournament where the competition was very keen.

Other outstanding work accomplished by the Council was the sale of war bonds and stamps in the lower hall (along with the above mentioned War Bond Auction) and the collecting of donations in study halls for the Red Cross which, incidentally, broke all previous records.

Council members worked silently, efficiently, and always. They stirred up school spirit, helped with Capitoline subscriptions, and acted as the clearing house for problems between the administration and students. In other words, they served as the "General Gripe Department!"

Cafeteria Council Serves

Miss Rita Devlin
Directress

During this year of war, food has become more and more important and the Cafeteria Council has served it with a ready smile. To be a member of this Council, one must be a student employee of the High School Cafeteria. He must have average grades, a normal personality, and the desire to do his best in whatever job he is appointed to do. Each member is advanced in accordance with the way he performs his assigned task.

One outstanding program of the Council is nutrition education through posters. These posters are selected, purchased, and displayed by the club.

A Halloween Festival, which all the members attended, was held. The Council also entertained the student employees of the Feitshans and Lanphier High School Cafeterias at a Christmas breakfast.

Officers are elected each semester and new members are initiated at an informal initiation twice a year.

...Advanced Orchestra Features

Under the able direction of Clarence Sauer, the Advanced Orchestra enjoyed another successful season in the 1944-45 school year.

One hour was spent each day in rehearsals which added to the pleasure of the personnel. These rehearsals were also enjoyed by the rest of the school.

As usual two concerts were presented—one in the winter and one in the spring—which were huge successes. Although it was not possible for the entire orchestra to play for graduations and the recognition assembly, a picked group of musicians displayed their talents.

The Preparatory Orchestra, which is a group composed of students not yet ready to play in Advanced, is used as a stepping-stone to the advanced group.

The A Cappella choir offers a world of experience to those students interested in singing. They not only receive instruction on correct singing, but also learn to cooperate harmoniously with their fellow choir members.

The choir has been active throughout the entire year. It has furnished music for the Christmas, V-E Day, and F. D. Roosevelt Memorial assemblies. The choir also made an exciting trip to Rochester, Illinois, to appear before the P. T. A.

This year the repertoire of the choir included both popular and classical music.

In June, the choir bade a fond farewell to Director "Teach" Lundgren. After seventeen years with the choir, Mr. Lundgren resigned this spring. The choir will miss "Teach", but it will carry through the A Cappella traditions and strive for further success.

...Nonet Presents Novelty Program

The Nonet, organized during the season of 1943-44, has recently completed another successful season. Continuing its policy as good-will ambassador of our school, the group of five girls and five boys have appeared in public over thirty-five times.

Responding to continual requests for music of a more popular nature, Mr. E. Carl Lundgren, the director, has coached the young people in singing more musical comedy, light opera, and popular music. Their repertoire, however, still includes a measure of more classical music to round out a balanced program.

An innovation this year, the introduction of novelty numbers with various props, added to the color of their performances.

The crowded season included appearances before the student body, many of the civic clubs, various meetings, and a number of out-of-town audiences.

Next year's Nonet, already being assembled, will continue its work, but without the valuable guidance and training of their teacher, Mr. E. Carl Lundgren, whose energy and direction steered the group to its success. Mr. Lungren resigned this spring.

The Advanced Band enjoyed another successful year as one of the leading musical organizations of the school.

The band adopted a program this year of playing at least once for every grade school in the Springfield High School district. The programs were given during the sixth period at the grade school. This proved to be quite successful because of the valuable experience gained by the band, the entertainment it provided for the grade school students, and for the interest and desire to join the band it aroused in many of the yearlings.

Among the other occasions the band played for were Governor Green's Christmas party, the War Bond Parade, and a fathers' night celebration. Of course, our football games wouldn't be football games without the band providing entertainment with snappy marching, novel arrangements, original formation, and their greatly admired conga.

.46 Students Achieve Scholastic Honors

The National Honor Society this year was made up of members of the January and June graduating classes. As usual, the girls predominated over the boys placing 33 girls as members to 13 boys.

Scholarship is the principal basis for membership in the National Honor Society. However, other factors are also taken into consideration; these include character and the qualities of leadship shown by the individual. To become eligible a student must maintain a general average of B during the entire four years and the equivalent of four A's and two B's as semester averages in at least one major subject. If a transfer from another school, he must have been enrolled at Springfield High School for at least one full year.

While a great deal of "midnight oil" was probably burned in order to maintain the honor grades, these students can now proudly point to their reward — membership in the National Honor Society!

Cheerleaders

Springfield had quite a successful year in athletics this season and much of the credit goes to the cheerleaders. They took their jobs seriously and kept up the support of the student body when the team was either at the depths of defeat or the height of glory.

Quite a novelty was added this year by Jane Miles who thrilled the cheerers by doing the splits at the end of the yells.

Bus Dryfoose and Don Miller, the male duet of the cheerleaders rostrum, literally brought down the house with their clever gestures and corny gags.

This group demonstrated what cooperation would accomplish and obtained results that any fan, coach or team would be proud of.

Mierley and Dolores, both newcomers, did a swell job out there and proved themselves willing workers. This was Pat's second year as an S.H.S. cheerleader. Her enthusiasm aroused many a cheer in both defeat and victory.

Springfield High School is very fortunate in having a crew of men who work together so harmoniously in producing victorious athletic teams and who are individually the cream of the athletic coaches in their respective sports.

To Bill Roellig, the ace of all football coaches, Big Twelve football conference championships are common. Although his teams have not won this honor for a few years he has the best record of any coach in the state.

Cheers to the new addition to our coaching staff—Clyde McQueen. As assistant football coach, he was able to build players into what other schools thought were Springfield Supermen. From there he took over the job as head track coach, where he developed a track team with a most enviable record.

Jesse Sanders, athletic business manager, has probably one of the most difficult jobs in the department. It is his responsibility to handle the finances, take care of the crowds, and look after the purchase of football equipment.

Charles Petefish deserves a large percentage of the glory gained by the other two football coaches as well as what he earns on his own behalf. "Pete" trains freshmen in the fundamentals of football.

Charlie, a senior, played a regular tackle for the Red and Black. He played his best game in the last tussle of the season with Pekin.

MAX SHERMAN
Left End

Max, a senior, did his outstanding work of the season in the Lanphier game, which he won for the Red and Black when he snagged a pass from Weisenmeyer in the first quarter and trotted over for the only score of the contest.

TEAM MANAGERS

Al Westburg and Herbie Price turned in another efficient job this year as managers of our football team. They again accentuated the positive (supplied the players readily with their football gear) and eliminated the negative (kept down the loss of athletic equipment). These two fellows deserve special commendation for their two years of good work in the managers' capacity.

Hardwood Stars Carry Springfield Colors to State Tournament

The Red and Black were upset by Quincy's Blue Devils in their first game at the State 46-38. Our boys were never ahead but at one time in the third quarter pulled up within one point of the hot shooting Quincy crew. The first frame saw the Solons trailing 16-8 while the second ended at 23-18 after the locals had made a comeback at the hoop. Coach Peterman jerked his starters in this period to give them a rest and also some dope on Quincy's play. The reserves more than held their own. The third stanza was fought on even terms, ending at 32-28 after Springfield had pulled up to a mere 29-28 deficit at one time late in the canto. The Blue Devils were hot in the final frame again dominating the play. S.H.S. lost the contest on their failure to make rebounds, sometimes missing as many as four in a single action under the basket. Their tabulation was fourteen baskets out of sixty-eight tries from the field and only ten of twenty-eight foul throws. Chambers paced the attack with ten tallies.

COACH MARK PETERMAN

ART PILLISCHAFSKE
Guard

Art got in the lineup infrequently but showed plenty of spunk when out there playing.

DICK COBB
Forward

Dick should see a lot of action next year. He ended up this season as tournament team manager.

MAX SHERMAN
Forward

Max showed plenty of promise in this, his senior year. Too bad he won't be back.

CLIFF KURRUS
Center

Cliff, who started the season as first string center, was the sixth man on the squad. Only a sophomore, he sparked our second half drive against Taylorville with great offensive and defensive play.

JIM ROBERTS
Guard

Jim played quite frequently as a reserve guard; saw a lot of action in tournament play.

JIM FINN
Guard

Jim is a cool-headed boy on the floor. In the next two seasons he will certainly make first string.

JERRY SLACK
Forward

Jerry, a senior, won honorable mention at forward in all Big Twelve selections made by United Press. He ranked third in scoring on the Red and Black and was especially hot in tournament play.

GENE ESTES
Guard

Gene stood second in total season scoring with 209 points. In tournament play he scored 23 baskets to lead in that department. Estes' steady scoring will be missed next season.

BUD CHAMBERS

Guard

Bud led the team in all season scoring with 226 counters for a nine point average per game. He put seventeen counters through the hoop in single games twice during the campaign.

BUD LUERS

Guard

Bud contributed skillful ballhandling to the second team attack. He'll be back next year.

RON GIBBS

Guard

Ron didn't get to play until the end of the season but then showed scoring ability.

CHARLES LEE

Center

Charlie gave our team a steady defensive job at center throughout the season. He will be hard to replace next year. On offense he was high pointmaker in that Routt Sectional contest.

BOB RUFF

Forward

Bob, who didn't see too much action in regular season play, made twelve counters in the tournament. He turned in capable reserve work at all times.

RAY TROXELL

Forward

Ray, who will play again for S.H.S. next year, did a creditable job at the forward spot. Troxell was a standout at ball handling.

HENRY HAHN

Forward

Henry saw action in the Quincy game as well as the regional contests.

Springfield thinclads came out of a full schedule of meets with a highly respectable record this season. Out of eight varsity meets participated in, the Red and Black walked off with four team first places, two third places, and a fifth place. They failed to count points at the state meet where they were represented by Jerry Slack in the low hurdles and an excellent relay team of Weisenmeyer, Phillips, Esmond, and Slack.

The first meet on the regular schedule, the class meet, saw the Juniors beating out the Sophomores for honors 63 to 48 while the Seniors ranked third. Next our trackmen far outdistanced Virden, Taylorville, and Lanphier in a quadrangular meet by counting 82 points. A triangular meet with Virden and Girard saw our boys triumphant again with 63 2/3 points. In a dual contest with I.S.D. the Solons amassed a top-heavy score of 81 points. The City Meet was also recorded in our victory column as our thinclads snagged 84 1/3 points. S.H.S. was nosed out of second in the Lincoln Relays by 1/6 of a point despite their lack of numbers. In the District Meet at Taylorville Jerry Slack broke the low hurdle record and our relay team set a new mark in that event as we copped third place. Slack again ran the low hurdles in record time as Springfield took fifth place in the Big Twelve Meet at Peoria to end its season. Clyde McQueen must be commended for an excellent coaching job in his first year at the post here.

for City and District Meets

The Freshmen-Sophomore team also enjoyed a successful season, winning a dual meet with Lincoln, and finishing second to that team by a margin of 1/2 point in the Lincoln Relays. The potentialities of these lower classmen can be realized by their showing in the Class Meet as well as these contests. The Frosh-Soph relayers set a new mark in that event at the Big Twelve Meet to serve warning that we will continue to have a topflight relay threat. Our Freshmen team also captured city honors with Mr. Petefish as their mentor.

TENNIS

S.H.S. revived tennis this year with an interschool tournament and competition in the Big Twelve Meet at Peoria. Seven schools sent teams and our entries tied for fourth in team tabulations. The doubles team of Mahoney and Walden lost in the first round while both singles aspirants, Ruff and Estes, bowed in semifinal play.

GOLF

Seventeen Springfield High golf enthusiasts conducted a medal tournament under Mr. Roellig's tutelage and Johnny Knight emerged victorious with a 77. Several of the contestants hadn't regained their midseason form as yet, and thus the winner's 36 was the only round under 40.

BASEBALL

Baseball faded out this year as a result of adverse weather conditions. The Red and Black played one contest, a loss to St. James 15 to 8, before entering into the District Meet and bowing to Cathedral's good aggregation 10 to 3 despite a good showing in the early innings. Mark Peterman was the coach.

WHAT GIVES?

S. H. S. Builds for Victory

Some high schools, both Junior and Senior, have felt they have been forced to cancel part of their athletic program because of lack of transportation, equipment, and other handicaps imposed by the war. Springfield High School, however, has not decreased its athletic training but has increased its volume and effectiveness.

A policy adopted several years ago was to increase the required amount of credit in gymnasium for eligibility to graduate until all students took at least one hour of gym every week. This program was fully carried out so that now all students, regardless of the number of study halls, courses being taken, or the amount of outside activities, must take two or three hours of gym per week.

In order to overcome the lack of transportation and to take the place of inter-school competition, inter-class meets have been introduced. These meets met with the most success in track.

As a result of this emphasis on physical education, Springfield High School athletes have excelled in all sports and have made the percentage of boys of our school in the service one of the highest.

Springfield Highlights of...

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 5. "Oh What a Beautiful Morning." Of course, right in the middle of it, 9:00 o'clock to be exact, school started for the first day of this semester.

Sept. 9. Not only did Mary Lou Elmore bring the first Les Bas meeting of the year together today but she also started out the first school club meeting of the semester.

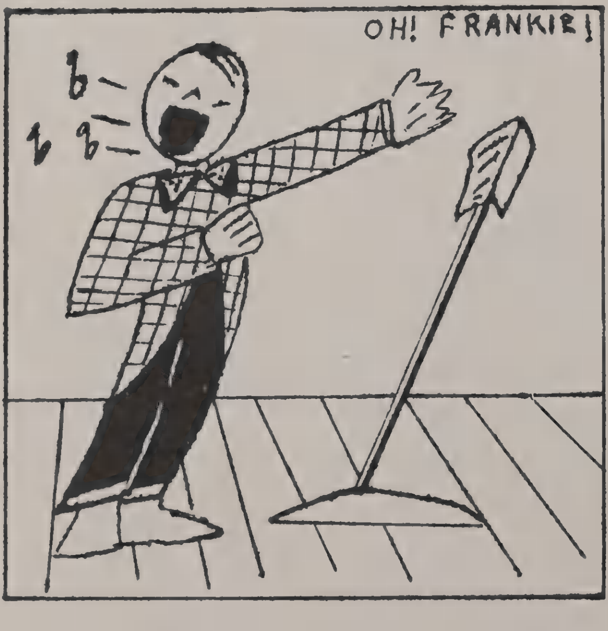
Sept. 10. And in streamed the freshies. Why of course it was the cootie assembly.

Sept. 12. Organization meeting of the Philos.

Sept. 19. First assembly of the year. The rows of shining 9¹ faces lit up the stage very nicely.

Sept. 22. Feitshans proved a worthy adversary for our first football game of the season. In fact a little too worthy. The final score was 18 to 0 in Feitshan's favor.

Sept. 29. Cathedral game. We lost. 'Nuff said.



OCTOBER

Oct. 2. "Assume the position, pledge!" Thus began the most uncomfortable week of the year for a great majority of the sophomore class. In other words—pledge week began.

Oct. 5. Good old Stink Creek was the scene of an important event in the history of S.H.S. today—the Wrangler-Delphic tug-of-war. The Delphics won (natch) by one bloody nose and two dunkings.

Oct. 6. A day of freedom spent in recovering from the trials and tribulations of Stink Creek. Attraction number two—the Lanphier game. Score: S.H.S. 6, Lanphier 0.

Oct. 10. A group of boys from SHS took a tour of inspection to Decatur before the big game. They concentrated especially on the inside of the city jail. Revenge! !

Oct. 12. Today the hitherto ignorant student body of SHS learned the technicalities of football under the guidance of Mr. Roellig and the football team.

Oct. 13. Springfield's football team again emerged victorious from the annual Decatur fray. The score: 18 to 14.

Oct. 21. The Rover Boys (and Girls) of SHS, by this time recovered from the effects of their Decatur trip, descended up on Peoria for the football game. Springfield lost but nevertheless a good time was had by all.

Oct. 23. The day of reckoning. In other words—grades! !

Oct. 23. "Rosy" entertained us in the third assembly of the year.

Oct. 27. Through the fog some spectators managed to see the Bloomington Football team defeat Springfield 13 to 10.

..."Anything Can Happen Once!"

NOVEMBER

Nov. 1. Mulehouse (alias Morgan) won by a majority of 4 votes and was elected editor-in-chief of the 1945 Capitoline in the convention held today in the assembly.

Nov. 3. Lincoln football game. Springfield came up minus a few points.

Nov. 4. The Delphic Come-as-you-are dance is a big success.

Nov. 10. Last football game of the season. Pekin triumphed over the Red and Black.

Nov. 11. No school, Armistice day.

Nov. 16. The Les Bas entertained the Philos at a tea. Miss Nuess told about her life in the Women's Marine Corps.

Nov. 18. Gala opening of the Top Deck Club.

DECEMBER

Dec. 1. The Clinton basketball game. Final score: 40-29 in Clinton's favor.

Dec. 5 and 6. Club Capitoline pictures taken in the gym after school. Watch the birdie!

Dec. 7. Remember Pearl Harbor by buying bonds.

Dec. 8. Nonet Assembly and Lanphier game today. Springfield won the latter by 10 whole points.

Dec. 15. Lincoln game, 50 to 39 in their favor. The less said, the better.

Dec. 16. Delphic Sleigh ride. Brrr! The basketball team took a jaunt to Freeport and was defeated.

Dec. 17. Sophomore Chorus classes directed by Mr. Benedict presented their annual Christmas Cantata.

Dec. 21. Les Bas Party, annual choir assembly, and Cathedral game. Whew! Big day.

Dec. 22. Last day of school before the holidays. Mr. Davis excused the whole school sixth period as an example of Christmas spirit.

Dec. 25. Merry Christmas! The white Christmas everyone dreams of.

Dec. 27. The Les Bas sponsored another successful Christmas dance!

JANUARY

Jan. 3. Vacation over—no more sleeping till noon.

Jan. 5. The SHS team was as cold as the weather at the Bloomington game. "What a difference a score makes."

Jan. 10. The Public Speaking classes put their all into a very timely debate upon post-war compulsory military training for the assembly today.

Jan. 12. Decatur got even with us for defeating them in football in a very uneven basketball game.

Springfield Highlights of...

Jan. 15. "Don't Fence Me In" was the theme of the very pretty American-born Japanese girl in today's assembly.

Jan. 20. Queen Sue Crawford and her six attendants reigned tonight over the annual mid-year prom.

Jan. 21. Baccalaureate services were held for the graduating seniors today.

Jan. 22. The Delphics elected Myron Walden president for next semester at their annual stag banquet.

Jan. 24. Eighty-three seniors left their high school days behind them forever. The graduation exercises were completed by a speech by Robert M. Ring, Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Jan. 25. Jack Fisher, looking quite ravishing in a daring midriff formal was crowned queen of the Wrangler dance by President Jim Shomaker.

Jan. 26. A day of rest. Preparation for next semester. Feitshans basketball game. We won!

Jan. 29. A period of deep depression—grades came out today. Also the beginning of the new semester.

FEBRUARY

Feb. 2. Bloomington game. SHS won by two points.
Feb. 9. Decatur (the future state champions) defeated us. Score 43-32.

Feb. 10. East St. Louis went down before the Springfield five.

Feb. 12. Good old Lincoln. School excused for his birthday today.

Feb. 14. Some lucky soul received a pass "To Excuse You First Period" for bidding to unheard of heights for a war bond at the auction held by the Student Council.

Feb. 15. From now on bring all broken bones to the Sophomores. They took their initial First Aid lesson today.

Feb. 16. The Philo Cupid Capers went off successfully in the Girl's Gym—music by O'Hara.

Feb. 23. Peoria Central got tough and defeated the SHS basketball team tonight. A very low trick!

MARCH

Mar. 7. Assembly—dramatic readings by the woman in the scarlet dress.

Mar. 8. Springfield routed Routt to win the district trophy tonight.

Mar. 9. Another trophy! This time the sectional won from Taylorville in a fight-to-the-finish game. Winning this prize makes SHS one of the 16 best teams in the state!

Mar. 14. Another hurdle for the freshmen to leap. Today they were given the freshman tests. Pep assembly.

Mar. 15. Well, at least the team had the honor of participation in the state tournament but they just weren't good enough to defeat Quincy who incidentally took third place.

Mar. 16. Everyone returned from Champaign to attend the successful Delphic dance tonight.

Mar. 19. Ugh!—Grades came out today. Need I say more?

Mar. 20. Miss Irena Khrabroff gave a very enlightening assembly by telling stories of Russia and her childhood there.

..."Anything Can Happen Once!"

Mar. 23. Sweet Freedom! Teachers institute means only one thing—no school.

Mar. 30. Good Friday. More Freedom!

APRIL

Apr. 2. No more Easter bonnets, eggs, etc., until next year and worse still, no more vacations until May 30.

Apr. 10. Juniors carried off top honors in the inter-class track meet tonight after school. Sophomores and Seniors followed up in that order.

Apr. 11. "You get no bread with Guiseppe's meatballs" according to the Wranglers who proclaimed this loud and long in their usual slap-stick assembly.

Apr. 13. The whole school joined in observance of the President's death in an assembly today. The Wrangler Barn Dance was postponed till next week.

Apr. 17. Freshman and Sophomore trials for track.

Apr. 20. Wrangler Barn Dance. "Hairless Joe" Dryfoose won first prize for his costume. All those who weren't allergic to hay had a good time.

Apr. 26. Miss Rourke's public speaking classes conducted an assembly to observe the opening of the San Francisco Conference.

Apr. 27. Les Bas Maypole Dance. Something new has been added—the crowning of a king instead of the usual queen. Lucky man—Myron Walden. Senior boys made nominations for Prom queen.

Apr. 30. Grades!!! Oh! Oh! Yes, we all felt that way! ! !

MAY

May 1. All Capitoline copy is to be in today. So from now on I could be wrong. Gazing into mine crystal ball I see—

May 3. The one, the only Delphic amateur assembly. Remember, Sinatra was once an amateur!

May 5. Mr. Benedict directs Spring Cantata.

May 8. City Freshman and Sophomore track meet.

May 10, 11. District track meet to be held at Champaign.

May 17. Les Bas entertain their mammas at a tea with a "Gay 90's" program.

May 25. Big Twelve track meet at Peoria. Good luck, Springfield!

May 30. Decoration day—no school! I foresee sunburns for tomorrow!

JUNE

June 4. At last, no ball and chain, or worse still detention for those who skip. It's perfectly legal on Senior Skip day—providing you're a Senior.

June 8. Senior prom. Mary Frances Glisson crowned queen.

June 10. Class service for graduates.

June 11. Recognition assembly. Naaional Honor Society gains new members, we hope.

June 11. Graduation exercises. Seniors leave their high school days behind them forever.

June 12. Day of bliss and sorrow—school is dismissed for another year.

Editor's Last Word

Again the month of June has rolled around, and although this means spring formals, the June prom, spooners on the loose, and final exams staring us in the face, it also means the time has come for us to place the annual in your hands.

To do this has meant nearly a full year of hard labor on the part of some fifty persons including the staff, engravers, printers, photographers and cover concern. It has taken a large number of persons a long time to plan and assemble this book which by this time you have already scanned.

First of all, I want to thank the score of students who so graciously gave me their help in making this a book of your memories; the Art Editors for the beautiful art work; the Business Staff who handled the business end to perfection, going well over the planned quota; and many others from both the Junior and Senior classes who so willingly gave their time and help in compiling this book.

That is all—it has been well worth the time spent. Here's hoping you like it.

Irving Morgan.
